The data we collect is basically the same data you are required to provide on a U.S. Census, and most of this data could be easily obtained by purchasing your state voter registration records.

Actually, the RNC and DNC also have databases that have over 900 points of data on every member of the electorate according to Daniel Kreiss, a journalism professor at the University of North Carolina. They obtain marketing data such as credit and grocery card purchases and magazine subscription lists. That information is then bundled with data about party affiliation and voter turnout.

Our data however is only utilized to create statistical reports regarding the political views and opinions of members on particular issues as expressed to their elected officials, but at no time is your personal identity disclosed.

CITIZENS ADVISORY RESPONSE

for immediate release

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA - March 5th, 2016

On January 1 , 2016 MakingAmericaRight placed the following Federal Advisory Initiative before it's members.

Should Wealthy Americans Be Required To Pay More of the Income Tax Burden?

Some citizens believe that wealthier American's should pay more in taxes to help provide necessary services. They argue that everyone should "pay their fair share." Others believe it is important to reduce taxes and allow the wealthy to invest in the private sector in order to spur economic recovery. They believe tax reductions and investments in business will create more job growth. Understand also that America's political structure has a vested interest in the continued debate over tax policy. Each party has drawn specific conclusions based on an intellectual investment in either side of the debate, and both sides have employed liberal use of the phrase "fair share."

Ballot period ran from January 1st through January 31st and the results of that Initiative is as follows;
